GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Ambushed by Indians.

Six United States deputy marshals were ambushed in Spavinaw hills, near Kansas, I. T., by a band of full-blood Indian outlaws Sunday night. In a fight which ensued three deputies met their death. They were I. L. Gilstrap, of Kansas; Otis Tuttel, of Vinita, and Richard Carey, of Tahlequah, I. T.

Thomas Wofford, one of the deputies who escaped, carried the news to Talequah yesterday, and Marshal Daraugh issued orders to rush every deputy marshal in the northern district of the Indian Territory to the scene. Details of the fight have not yet been received.

Marshal Daraugh, in addition, wired the Department of Justice at Washington asking authority to swear in 100 additional deputies and to offer $1,000 reward for each of the outlaws, dead or alive. He has gone to Kansas, and will personally direct operations against the outlaws.

The gang was headed by Charley, John and Thomas Wickliffe, sons of a former justice of the Cherokee Supreme Court. The three Wickliffe boys began their careers five years ago, when they were concerned in a stabbing affair at an Indian dance.

The deputy marshals were ambushed Sunday night while hunting the Wickliffes for the murder last March of Deputy Vier. The horses of the deputies were shot from under them, and Gilstrap, Tuttle and Carey were killed outright.

The other three sought shelter behind rocks. When Wofford started back on foot to Tahlequah for reinforcements the others were holding the Indians at bay.

Moore bloodshed is feared. It is said that many of the younger full-blood Indians in the Spavinaw hills are joining the Wickliffes. Several famous Indian fighters are among the posses.

The ambush laid by the Wicklifles for the deputies was cleverly planned. The officers were led into it unsuspectingly and were fired on without warning. The deputies fought desperately, and for a time escape for any of them seemed impossible.

Apologized to Court.

When the case of Ernest Richards was called yesterday before United States Commissioner Shields in New York, Lawyer Hugh Gordon Miller, formerly of Norfolk, Va., who at the last hearing in the case struck Anthony Comstock in the face for calling him a liar, handed the following communication to Commissioner Shields:

"I desire now publicly, and in open court, before this case is disposed of, to offer my profound apology to your honor for an episode which occurred in this court, and in this case, on Friday. I do this independent of, and as an entirely separate proposition from the cause of the regrettable occurrence, or the provocation I had in striking Mr. Comstock. I offer this apology not in any way to Mr. Comstock, but to the court, in recognition of the respect due it as a temple of justice, as well as to your honor personally. In the excitement of the moment I omitted this apology at the time of the occurrence. I wish this voluntary apology to the majesty of the law, which your honor has so long and so ably represented, to be spread upon the record of the court in this case."

Mr. Comstock has offered no apology. Lawyer Miller has received over a hundred letters congratulating him for his act in striking Comstock. All, with a few exceptions, have been strangers. One letter accused Lawyer Miller of trying to make himself the most popular man in the United States and then to be a candidate for the presidency to succeed Roosevelt.

Testing Petroleum Fuel.

Newport, R. I., March 18.—Two trials with the patent petroleum fuel have already been made in Narragansett Bay by the use of the torpedo boat McKee attached to the naval torpedo station, under the immediate direction of a board of naval officers from that station, and now it is announced that a third test is scheduled to begin very shortly. The result of the two trials are claimed to have been highly satisfactory save in the torch trial at night when sparks were seen issuing from the smokestack and which it is now expected to wholly eliminate at the coming trial. Capt. Erik G. Lind, formerly in command of naval transports is the patentee.

To Investigate Charges.

Madrid, March 13.—Although the Spanish Cabinet has decided not to allow a parliamentary commission to inquire into the charges of corruption made against certain officers formerly employed in Cuba, General De Luque, the Minister of War, has decided to conduct a departmental investigation of the Spanish generals concerned.

Starving to Death.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters, of St. Clair St., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health Tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

DEFERRED ITEMS.

The falls of the Columbia river, the third largest in the country, have been sold to develop electric power.

Japanese troops will be entirely out of Manchuria in a few days and the country will be opened to the trade of the world.

Mr. Roosevelt and the anti-Odell faction of New York republicans are said to have been checkmated by Odell in their efforts to oust him from the chairmanship.

Coal operators announce that they have 9,000,000 tons of hard coal stored in and about New York, and that there will be no increase in the price of fuel, strike or no strike.

Count Di Castelmenardo was convicted at Genoa, Italy, of infidelity, on complaint of his wife, who was Edith Van Buren, of New York. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Mrs. Virginia K. Patterson, wife of Joseph N. Patterson, and the divorced wife of "Count" de Monercole, of Italy, was removed to Bellevue, New York, Saturday, suffering from alcoholism. Mrs. Patterson, her husband said, is a niece of Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania. She was taken to the hospital on a warrant issued for the determination of her sanity. Mr. Patterson said his wife has been a victim of drink for three years, and that recently she has been drinking heavily.

Harry Hoffman committed suicide in Baltimore Saturday by taking carbolic acid in the yard of the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John L. Brandau. Mrs. Charles Weigman, a sister of Mr. Hoffman, stated that her brother had been living with her since last Thursday a week ago, when his wife had left him, taking her three children with her. Hoffman called to see his wife at her new home before taking the fatal draught and left fruit for the children, for whom he grieved since the break in domestic affairs.

One of the most important captures made in Cambridge, Mass., in years occurred Saturday, when the police caught Albert L. Lambert, the long-sought "Harvard Raffles." He claims that he is the son of former District Attorney Rapp, of Chicago, and asserts that he broke out of the Chicago jail in 1901, while serving a year's sentence for obtaining money under false pretences. For a long time he has made his way at college by "workin" students and by stealing from their rooms. Through his scheme and through thefts, the police believe the man has secured between $4,000 and $5,000.

Eggs With Handles.

Robert E. Foster, of Newton, Sussex county, N. J., an ornithologist and biologist, has succeeded, with the able assistance of his White Leghorn hens, in developing an egg with a handle. Mr. Foster will not tell how he educated the leghorns up to this, but he has seven eggs with handles. One such is on exhibition in the editorial rooms of the Sussex Register and proves the power of suggestion over intelligent and observant fowls. On the small end of this egg is a protuberance from the shell about as big as the handle of a tiny demitasse. The butt of the egg is flattened, so that the egg stands by itself. Anyone can see the immense economic and commercial value of an egg so shaped. Eggcups will be superfluous hereafter.

Separating Church and State.

Chicago, March, 13.—Departures from the policy of John Alexander Dowie, which will be inaugurated in Zion City by the reform management, were outlined Sunday in Zion tabernacle by the new Deputy General Overseer, Wilbur Glen Voliu. As the vital feature in the reforms the Dowieites have decided definitely to separate church and state. Dowie will be permitted to be Elijah III and the first apostle to his heart's content, but not general overseer of the cash box. A number of reforms were outlined by the new overseer.

The Castellane Divorce Case.

The preliminary hearing of the separation proceedings instituted by the Countess Boni de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould, against her husband Count Boni, which was set for March 14 in Paris, will probably be postponed. The lawyers representing the various branches of the case have been in consultation upon the financial features involved and other final details of the procedure. This has resulted in a determination to change the form of the proceedings.

Although authoritative information is withheld for the present, there is reason to believe that the change contemplates the Countess asking for an absolute divorce instead of a separation, which would necessitate a postponement of the hearing, as the change would require filling a new bill of complaint, since the facts recited in the former writ would not suffice for the changed procedure. Moreover, the change will permit of a more prompt final adjustment of all the legal and financial branches than the indefinite three years' stage under a separation. The new papers have not yet been filed, but are expected to be ready in a day or two.

The proposed change appears to be the result of the conclusion of all concerned that a reconciliation between the Countess and the Count is impossible during the three years in which the legal separation would be operative.

It is the intention of the lawyers on both sides to avoid public hearings of the case and to secure a decree without a contest.

No Strike of Telegraphers.

All danger of a strike on the Southern Railway was averted last evening when the committee of five, representing the telegraphers and station agents employed on that line, decided to accept the wage scale offered by the officials. Official notification of acceptance was given to H. B. Spencer, general manager of the Southern Railway, this morning. Negotiations between the committee and the officials extended over several hours yesterday. At the conclusion of the session the committee repaired to its headquarters at the National Hotel in Washington and laid before H. P. Perham, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, the scale that had received the sanction of the Southern officials. After discussing the matter until late in the evening, the committee agreed to accept the conditions. The wage scale as agreed upon does not contemplate a minimum or maximum wage, but has been adjusted with a view of fitting each individual case.

Fell From the Gallery.

Edward Honvery, fifty years old, a clerk in the War Department, fell over the railing of the gallery at the Columbia Theatre in Washington last night, landing on his back across a seat in the balcony, twelve feet below. The man's body barely missed several persons. He was removed to his home, 1706 F street northwest. Honvery was arising to leave the gallery between the second and third acts, and was stepping from the third to the second row, when he lost his equilibrium. Several persons near reached out to seize him, but he shot over the railing. Physicians were unable last night to determine the extent of his injuries. For time those in the audience who had seen the form shoot downward were in a tensity of awe. Although badly frightened, women kept their seats and none of them fainted. A short while after Honvery was picked up it was announced to the audience what had occurred, and quiet was restored.

Suit for $100,000 Damages.

District Attorney Jerome in New York yesterday instituted two suits for libel against William Randolph Hearst in the sum of $100,000 each for alleged libellous publications in the New York American and Evening Journal of March 8. Mr. Jerome is represented in the matter by Howard S. Gans, former assistant district attorney, who arranged for the service complaint in the actions upon Clarence H. Shearn, Mr. Hearst's personal counsel. The suits were filed in the Supreme Court. The editorial in the Evening Journal dealt with contributions which it alleged had been made to Mr. Jerome's campaign fund during his recent contest for re-election as district attorney of New York county. The editorial in the American was a criticism of Mr. Jerome's alleged attitude in the case of a man named Tillinghast, who confessed to jury irregularities in the interest, he claimed, of a local street railway company. Tillinghast is now serving a sentence on the strength of his confession.

Plan for "Closed" Cemetery.

A movement took shape in Chicago Sunday looking to the establishmen of a "union" cemetery, and within a month or two a plot of ground large enough for 5,000 graves will be reserved strictly for unionists. No other persons may be buried there. The joint cigar makers' union of Chicago have appropriated $15,000 from their treasury to carry out the scheme. They do not intend to keep the cemetery for the benefit of members of their own trade only, but will throw open the gates of the burying ground to other unions of Chicago. It is expected that the rest of the 750 labor organizations of the city will join in the plan.

TUESDAY EVENING. MAR. 13, 1906.

SOME of the members of the legislature resent the criticisms made upon that body by many of the newspapers throughout the State, but they must remember that they alone are responible for such treatment. The majority of the members seem to have been reckless, extravagant and undignified men, as is shown by the following description of the closing scenes in the Senate published in one of the Richmond papers. The closing scenes in the House were none the less undignified:

The Senatorial farewell revel continued. At one point a Senator responding to a prod from another Senator, said something about the latter's "seeing double." The later was apparently much annoyed. He inquired if the Senator intended to insult him. "I have been in this Senate six years," he declared, "and in all that time I have never heard one Senator use such language as this, referring to another Senator." The other disclaimed any intention of offending the Senator, remarking upon the fact that the Senator was proceeding in a humorous vein, and declaring that his remark was made in this spirit. "I reserve the right to see double without any regard to the wishes of the Senator," said the other shortly. It was again declared that no offense was intended, and the incident passed. The result of the fun-making was that no bills were passed, or, rather, fun making was resorted to because it was impossible to get any bills through the Senate. At 11:20 p. m. the chair was vacated for twenty minutes. Three dignified Senators locked arms in a circle and waltzed around singing "Auld Lang Syne." The chorus was taken up by the others. The scene grew more lively. The Hon. "Pete" Barksdale, a former Senator, was dragged to the chair and forced to make a speech, which he did amid roars of applause. The other half of the Halifax ex-Senator, the Hon. T. C. Pilcher, was then introduced. There were loud cries for "Button," but the fore-warned clerk had safeguarded himself in his room behind a locked door. The gavel fell at 11:45 p. m., and the Senate came to order again. The president signed several bills, and arranged to have a sufficient number of members present on Monday to constitute a quorum of the committee on enrolled bills, and then the Senate adjourned.

BY all accounts from Washington the feeling appears to be gaining ground that the result of freight rate legislation in this session of Congress is going to be attended with much disappointment. Even some of those Senators and members who have favored the most drastic provisions of the Hepburn bill begin to think that the upshot will be to convince the country that attempts to undermine the power of the judiciary to protect the rights of property are far more dangerous than all the evils in the business of transportation which it is proposed to remedy. In this respect, and in respect also to the dangerous tendencies of centralization of government, says the Philadelphia Record, the coming discussion in the Senate promises to have a most salutary influence upon public opinion, which has been led astray by clamorous appeals to passion.

WIDE differences of opinion regarding the extent to which Congress may go in limiting the powers of the courts were manifested in the opening of the debate on the railroad rate bill yesterday afternoon in the Senate. There was but one speech, but an exceedingly able one, by Senator Culberson, of Texas, but he was interrupted from time to time by various Senators in a manner that revealed the absence of all unity of belief among the advocates of the rate bill regarding the all-imp ant court review question.

THE Philadelphia Record says: "The question at issue between the miners and the operators appears to have narrowed itself down to this: Shall the consumer pay $1.20 more per ton for coal? And, unfortunately, the consumer has no voice in the deliberations." But he can kick like a steer and that is just what Alexandrians will do should there be a rise on the present $7.25 per ton price.

THE management of the Lynchburg Horse Show Association has made formal announcement that it will not hold an exhibition next October. The small contingent to draw from in the city for patronage is the reason for this action. The building has been leased and will be converted into a skating rink. The horse show business is being rapidly run into the ground; there are too many of them.

SIR CHENG TUNG LIANG CHENG, Chinese minister at Washington, has received word from his government that apprehensions of an outbreak are groundless. But this will not stop the preparations being made by this country to invade China, but for what purpose the administration does not explain.

Augusta, Maine's capital city, which has been republican every year, with a single exception, since it became a city, was captured by the democrats yesterday, the republicans retaining only one ward. In Bangor the democratic Mayor, who had only a few votes to spare a year ago, was elected by 800 majority.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, March 13.

Secretary of War Taft it is announced today will accept the position of associate justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Associate Justice Brown, who has signified his desire to leave the bench this fall on account of failing eyesight. It may be said that Mr. Taft leaves the war office with the greatest reluctance.

With the selection of attorneys to assist it in prosecuting its investigation under the Tillman-Gillispie resolution, the Interstate Commerce Commission has completely inaugurated its investigation. It is proceeding on the assumption that Congress will appropriate $50,000 to be available at once for the conduct of the investigation and enact other legislation so as to enable the commission to make the investigation thoroughly practical. Edward B. Whitney, of New York, who will have charge of the investigation, and William A. Glasgow, jr., of Philadelphia, who will assist Mr. Whitney, were in Washington yesterday, and it was in the midst of their conference with Chairman Knapp, of the commission, that the announcement was made that they would accept the position as special counsel. At the conference it was decided best to consider the anthracite coal situation separate from the bituminous coal conditions west of the Alleghenies. Still a third field of investigation will be the coal and oil dealings of the transcontinental railroads.

The House committee on interstate and foreign commerce today authorized favorable report on the Townsend resolution, which appropriates $50,000 to make effective the provisions of the Gillespie-Tillman resolution calling for an investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of railroad monoplies in coal and oil. The Townsend resolution corrective in its nature, also makes specific the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to subpoena witnesses and compel them to give testimony.

Senator Tillman who has been commissioned to make the majority report on the committee on interstate commerce on the Hepburn railroad rate bill, has not yet completed his task. He says now that he expects to present the report to the Senate on Thursday during the morning hour. In it he has endeavored to condense as briefly as possible the salient facts developed in the extended inquiry made by the committee and the arguments for an extension of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission so as to enable it to change a railroad rate of which complaint is made Senator Tillman says he wants to make his report so brief that Senators will read the whole of it, and yet comprehensive enought to cover the subject. As he has it now mapped out, it contains little more than 5,000 words. Pending the presentation of this report the debate on the rate subject will continue on the democratic side. Senator Simmons will speak this afternoon and Senator Rayner tomorrow. Realizing that there is scarcely a Senator on their side of the chamber that does not think the pending bill should be amended in some particular, there is a disposition among the democrats to get together for the purpose of deciding upon the amendments they will support. A majority of the democrats favor an amendment which will afford both shipper and railroad broader rights of appeal to the courts for review of the commission's decision than are provided in the pending measure, but they want to put a reasonable limit on these court proceedings in the matter of time. They also desire to limit the power of the courts to issue injunctions to suspend the rate fixed by the commission during the time of the litigation. Senator Bailey and other democrats have drafted tentative amendments to cover these points and the projected conference is designed to secure an agreement on one of them which will command the support of practically all the democratic Senators.

After a conference with Speaker Connon, Representative Watson, of Indiana, republican whip of the House, announced that the republican caucus on the statehood bill will be called for Thursday at 3 p. m. As a result of Senator Tillman's argument in support of his resolution proposing an investigation as to whether any national banks have made campaign contributions to any party since 1893, the Senate committee on privileges and elections will report a bill specifically prohibiting such contributions, and declaring that the directors of banks making them shall be deemed guilty of a felony. Senator Tillman presented a statement to the committee this morning to the effect that a group of six or seven banks in a certain city did, in the campaign of 1896, contribute to the republican campaign fund between $15,000 and $20,000. He did not disclose the name of the city or of the banks, but he offered to fill in the blanks of his statement if the committee so desired. It was decided to appoint a sub-committee to examine the several bills that have been introduced regarding the prohibition of political contributions from corporations, and to either select the best of these or to frame a new bill to cover the case.

Representative Vreeland, chairman of the sub-committee of the naval affairs committee of the House, which investigated affairs at the Annapolis Naval Academy, today submitted the report and the recommendations of his committee to the full committee. Practically all the upper classmen were guilty of hazing in some form the report says. The enforcement of the present laws would therefore result in the expulsion by court-martial, of nearly all the upper classmen. Cadet officers are criticised for failing to report violations of the law that came to their attention. Admiral Brownson is criticised for failto make rules to effectually prevent hazing, also for absolving them from their promise to discountenance hazing when he left the academy Recommendations are made for a more active disciplinary supervision.

A Flash in the Pan.

The excitement and flurry in the State Senate Saturday night over the belief that an attempt had been made to amend surreptitiously the Portsmouth water bill, so as to invalidate its provisions, might have all been avoided had Senator Chapman, chairman of the Senate committee on counties, cities and towns, been present. As it was, he was out of the city, and telegraphed yesterday that the line found inside the bill was a memorandum placed there himself to call his attention to the constitutional point mentioned in the memorandum. He did not put it in his pocket for fear he would lose it, and knew this method would act as a reminder. The clerks of the legislature said yesterday that the alleged memorandum, treated as a fraudulent amendment of the bill, simply called attention to a constitutional provision which made the bill stronger, but that even had it been a surreptitious amendment it would not have become a part of the bill, as no amendment is ever enrolled until signed by the clerks, and this paper had no such indorsement. The committee to investigate the matter met yesterday afternoon and elected Delegate Churchman chairman. The only thing done was to summon Senator Thomas and Delegate Bland as witnesses.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Battle of Mount Dajo.

Manila, March 13.—Major General Wood, who has returned here after the battle of Mount Dajo, where several hundred natives were exterminated by the American troops, today talked about the fight with the Moros. General Wood admitted that native women and children were killed in the engagement, and while he deplored the fact, he said it was unavoidable because the women fought side by side with the men and Moro children were used as shields by the warriors. The Moros in the fight, General Wood declared, were absolutely fanatical. Even the men of the ambulance corps, who tried to minister to the injured, were in danger. The natives would feign death and when ambulance men would approach them would spring up and try to slash the Americans with knives. As the troops were nearing the summit of Mount Dajo many of the natives leaped over the precipice upon the troops. Some of them succeeded in seizing hold of the soldiers and rolling with them down the declivity. "Women fought alongside the men, and many were necessarily killed," said General Wood. "Some of the men, holding children before them as shields, plunged into our bayonets and slashed the Americans with their bolos until it was impossible to segregate the inhuman enemy. I regret the killing of women and children, but it was unavoidable." The majority of casualties among the troops, according to General Wood, were caused by spears and krisses. It was impossible to save any of the Moros after the fight began because they absolutely scorned surrender and many of them even fought the surgeons after they had been placed on the operating table. The island is quiet now.

Don't Want Third Parties.

New York, March 13.—Plain intimations are made by the anthracite operators that intervention by third parties in the settlement of the hard coal situation will be most unwelcome and that they and the miners should be permitted to work out the labor problem now confronting them without outside influences. The operators, in making these expressions, refer to the indicated intervention of President Roosevelt when the time arrives, and it is evident that the miners will lay down their tools on April 1. The operators state that they submitted to intervention three years ago, and abided by the award of a strike commission with the hope that it would establish relations that would be continued for not only three years but a longer period of time. Since the miners are not apparently willing to continue under the commission's award, the operators state that intervention would be purposeless, as it cannot offer a more effective mode of settlement than it did three years ago. A railroad president states that the companies have enough coal stored to last far into next winter, and that the public would not be asked to pay any increase in the cost of coal in the event of a strike. Retail coal dealers are advising their customers to stock up with coal, as they feel that a strike is unavoidable.

Affairs in Russia.

Lodz, Poland, March 13.—Owing to the systematic pillaging of spirit stores by the revolutionists, the government has been obliged to stop the transmission of money orders to the provinces. Savings banks and public houses have been closed in 160 towns in Russian Poland, and every branch of the state bank has been turned into a barracks and is guarded by twenty soldiers. The officials of private banks are afraid to keep money in the safes. All business is transacted by means of drafts. Owing to the government having prohibited citizens keeping or carrying arms, thieves have become absolutely reckless.

The body was frightfully mutilated, the wheels of two cars of the train passing over it. The remains were removed to the east 35th street police station, where a search of the clothing revealed a note book on the first page of which was written: "Henry Peterson, bandmaster, U. S. R. S. Franklin, Norfolk navy yard, Virginia."

Funeral of Victims.

Paris, March 13.—The funeral of twenty-eight of the victims of the mine disaster at Courriers were held today in a blinding snow storm. Six miners, dressed in their working clothes, bore each of the stretchers on which the bodies were carried to the grave. The members of the families of the victims and their friends followed the stretchers, making a long procession of mourners. Several Senators and Members of the Chamber of Deputies likewise attended the funeral. At the cemetery where the interment took place there were many heart-rendering scenes. Several women fainted beside the graves of their loved ones. A mass meeting of sympathy for the Courriers victims was held at the American Chamber of Commerce here today. Ambassador McCormick presided at the meeting. Those present subscribed 1,000 francs for the immediate relief of the families of the victims and the money was telegraphed to Courrieres.

The Greene-Gaynor Case.

Savannah, Ga., March 13.—The famous Greene-Gaynor case which has been repelete with exciting features, since they were indicted on December 19, 1899, is drawing to a close. The great legal battle has cost nearly a million dollars so far and involved the courts of two states, New York and Georgia, and three countries, the United States, Canada and England, and shaken the extradition treaty between the United States and England. The trial here, it is estimated, is costing the government $2,000 a day. Greene and Gaynor are said to be paying their counsel $10,000 and to have promised them $10,000 more if they win the case. It is believed that the end of the case will see Greene and Gaynor practically penniless. The case has been to the highest court of Great Britain and before its end will probably go to the highest court in the United States.

Stampede from Hotel.

Pittsburg, March 13.—One hundred and fifty guests in the Irondale Hotel, the largest hostelry in Donora, were forced to rush out in the street in their night clothes early this morning, when the hotel caught fire from an overheated heater. The guests were then compelled to run through a snow storm in their night clothing, some of them being in their bare feet, to places of shelter. The building was only partially destroyed, and some of the guests were fortunate enough to get within their rooms after the fire.

Murder Mystery.

Newark, N. J., March 13.—In the discovery of the body of a man floating in the Morris canal at the Grafton avenue bridge, the police of this city believe they have a murder mystery on heir hands. The throat of the victim had been cut, the head being almost severed, while several shots had been fired into the body. After killing the man the murderers tied a rope about the waist, attached a heavy stone to it and cast the body into the canal. A boatman, dragging the canal for his shoes which had fallen overboard, brought up the body. The discovery was made early today and the police immediately started in to unravel the mystery. The murdered victim was an Italian of middle age, medium height and build. County Physician McKenzie was of the opinion the man had been dead not more than ten hours.

After Fake Clubs.

The fake social clubs in Richmond must go. The preachers have put it up to Chief Werner, and Police Justice Crutchfield says he will run them out of business if brought before him. The least punishment in four cases brought before the Police Court was $200 fine and two months in jail.

The Chief said yesterday the crusade has just started, and he will break up every fake club in town before he is through.

A man before the bar of the Police Court yesterday testified that he got his liquor in a club at Twenty-ninth and M streets Sunday, but was unable to give even the name of the club of which he claimed to be a member. Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, March 13.

SENATE.

Mr. Scott introduced an amendment which he will offer to the railroad rate bill, providing for ample track facilities for transferring cars from one intersecting line to another, at crossings, intersections, etc.; providing for equal and reasonable facilities for interchange of cars and traffic; providing for switches and short road connections; providing against discrimination in rates or charges in such interchange and fixing the compensation at a reasonable figure. The Interstate Commerce Commission is given power to adjust differences and parties are permitted to secure review in the circuit court.

After hearing the amendment read, the Senate took up the consideration of private bills.

Senator Simmons this afternoon addressed his collesgues on behalf of the Hepburn bill, contending that the giving of authority to the Interstate Commerce Commission to substitute a just and reasonable rate for an unjust and unreasonable one was entirely proper and constitutional.

He stated that it was a well known fact that certain combinations have monopolized many of the prime commodities of industry and commerce, and, through the enormous volume of business they can give or withhold, aided by the devices of private switches, cars, refrigeration, ventilation and icing, have for some time past compelled the railroads to accept such compensation as they are willing to pay for the transportation of commodities in which they deal or for the traffic which they control. "This control of the big shippers," he declared, "includes not only the oil and fresh meat business of the country, but it extends to the fruit business, the dairy business, the truck business and the brewing business, as well as other important lines of business."

When the railway rate bill was taken up Mr. Tillman gave notice that he would on Thursday, move to take the bill up immediately after the routine business each day, instead of having its consideration wait until 2 o'clock.

Death of Susan B. Anthony.

Susan B. Anthony died at 12:40 this morning at Rochester, N. Y., without having regained consciousness from the time she suffered the severe relapse Sunday afternoon.

Miss Anthony was born in South Adams, Mass., on February 15, 1820. Her father was Daniel Anthony, a cotton manufacturer and a Quaker. Upon her graduation at the Friends' Boarding School in Philadelphia Miss Anthony became a school teacher. After reaching womanhood she devoted her life to the cause of women, and as an advocate of equal suffrage and woman's rights she gained a worldwide reputation. Miss Anthony first became conspicuous as an anti-slavery agitator in 1865, when she became one of the regular agents of the Anti-Slavery Society. Miss Anthony lived for many years with her sister Mary, in the home which her father had built in Rochester, supporting herself upon the money she made by lecturing and that which was given to her or left to her by friends of the cause to which she devoted her life.

Mr. Caton to Renew Fight.

Colonel J. R. Caton, patron of the rolling stock bill, is keenly disappointed by the failure of the measure. He announced Saturday that he will renew the fight in the next General Assembly, if he is returned to the legislature.

Colonel Caton still believes that a majority of the members favored the bill. He attributes its defeat to the absence of a number of delegates.

"Governor Swanson gave an entertainment Friday night and there were other attractions that kept members away," said the colonel, explaining the small attendance at the session Friday night to a sympathizing coterie in the House Saturday.

"It was another case of Nero fiddling while Rome burned," commented one of the group that surrounded the Alexandrian.

The defeat of the Caton rolling stock bill saves many thousands of dollars annually to Richmond and Roanoke.—[Richmond News-Leader.

Mr. Caton's Roses.

No society belle ever got a handsomer bunch of American Beauty roses than those seen on the desk of Delegate Caton, of Alexandria, in the House Saturday. The indefatigable legislator would not tell reporters whence came the roses nor would his colleagues reveal the secret, if they knew it.—[Richmond Journal.

During the session of the House Saturday, Mr. Gill, of Petersburg, jokingly requested the gentleman from Alexandria (Mr. Caton) to explain the presence on his desk of an enormous box of roses.

Mr. Caton, replying, said, "It is intended as a last tribute to the rolling stock bill, whose remains are now lying in state, and which will be borne to its last resting place after the hour of twelve to-night. The gentleman from Roanoke county, Mr. Bowman, will officiate at the last rites, and the gentleman from Roanoke city (Mr. Coleman) will be the funeral director, while the members from the cities of Richmond, Petersburg and Norfolk will act as pall bearers—but it is immortal and will rise again."

Mr. Coleman, in reply to Mr. Caton, said he was a believer in the grand doctrine of the "resurrection of the dead" and trusted when this "dear one," so close to the heart of his good friend from Alexandria, should next appear, it would put on incorruption, be changed and made a glorious body. That as the death of the departed was the result of a legal execution, the obsequies would be very simple; that few mourners would follow the funeral procession and few tears would be shed.—[Richmond Times-Dispatch.

M. E. Church Conference.

Arrangements have been completed for the thirty-eighth session of the Wilmington annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which will begin in Salem Church, Pocomoke City, Md., tomorrow. The conference embraces Delaware and the Eastern shores of Maryland and Virginia and the session will be one of the most important ever held, as many matters of moment will come up. The conference will, it is generally expected, formally accept the portion of the Alexandria district of the Virginia conference that has been allotted to it by the commissioners appointed by the general conference. The charges that will be added to the Wilmington conference will include those at Norfolk, Newport News and Phoebus, Va. This will extend the jurisdiction of the Wilmington body across the Chesapeake bay from Cape Charles, Va. The remainder of the churches in the Alexandria district will be allotted to the Baltimore conference, which body will also formally accept the new territory. Bishop Charles C. McCabe, of Philadelphia, will preside.

Moved to New Wharf.

Mr. William M. Reardon today moved to the new wharf of the Mutual Ice Company at the foot of Cameron street, and steamers for which he is the agent in this city stopped at that pier in passing up and down the river. The old wharf between King and Prince streets, so long used as the landing place of steamers, was deserted this morning. During the past half a century it had been the stopping place of most of the steamers which have plied on the Potomac. For many years the Philadelphia and New York boats arrived at and departed from that wharf, while for a long time the Lady of the Lake and Jane Moseley of the old Norfolk line used the pier. Of late the Baltimore steamers and boats of the Randall line have stopped there in passing up and down the river.

Accused Dismissed.

A white man, an inmate of an upper story of the old City Hotel, was cited to appear before the Police Court this morning charged with committing a nuisance on the Cameron street side of that building. The accused in his defense said he had been sick, and the act for which he had been arraigned was through no fault of his own, but was due to the fact that the house, though utilized in part as a tenement, was lacking in necessary conveniences. Justice Caton dismissed the man, remarking as he did so that so long as the authorities allowed the owners of buildings located in the heart of the city to neglect the same and become the abode of the impecunious, not furnishing the latter with proper conveniences, such acts might be expected.

Involuntary Manslaughter.

As was stated in the Gazette, Sarah Haskins and Hugh King, both colored, indicted by the Corporation Court for the murder of Richard Mills, colored, entered a plea of involuntary manslaughter and were sentenced to serve six months in jail. The shooting of Mills occurred one Saturday night early last fall in a house in the northwestern section of the city. He died the following Sunday. It was evident to the Coroner's jury that King and the Haskins woman knew all the facts in connection with Mills's death. The woman had left a saloon with Mills and there was reason to believe that King had followed the couple to the house where Mills was killed.

Sent to Grand Jury.

Among the cases before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning was that of William Brooks, colored, who had been arrested by Officers Knight, Arrington, Beach and Lyles charged with breaking into the house of James Posey, 124 south Peyton street, last night and stealing a watch, some money, a boy's suit of clothes, &c. The burglar was surprised by Mr. Posey and he fled, dropping the clothes on the premises. Later the officers found Brooks in a house which he had previously entered. He was positively identified by Mr. Brooks, and Justice Caton sent him on to the grand jury.

Personal.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds will be glad to learn that their little son, Purvis, who was so terribly scalded on last Tuesday, is slowly improving.

Dr. T. Marshall Jones, who has been quite sick for the past week, is improving and hopes soon to be out again.

Although nothing definite has been decided upon concerning the assistant postmaster at Alexandria, it is reported that Mr. J. A. Eggborn can have the place if he wants it.

Police Court.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

William Brooks, colored, arrested by Officers Knight, Arrington, Beach and Lyles charged with breaking and entering the house of James Posey, was sent on to the grand jury.

Bessie Littlejohn, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

A man, who had been charged with committing a nuisance, was dismissed.

Assaulted His Wife.

Because she refused to go out and buy him a bottle of whisky about 2 o'clock this afternoon, Harry Brown made a murderous attack upon his wife, Mrs. Ella Brown, at their home on Royal street, with an oyster knife, inflicting painful wounds on her hand and back. Fortunately Mrs. Brown had a chair within reach, with which she ably defended herself, until assistance came. Warrants are out for Brown's arrest, he having immediately fled.

Last Week of the Ground Hog.

The planet upon which we live, move and have our being is now rushing through the last week of the ground hog period, and meteorological conditions today were on a line with the rodent's forecast. The weather became cold and cloudy last night, and early this morning hail was pattering against window panes. Later the hail was followed by snow which fell thick and fast, and a cold northeast wind prevailed.

The Jackson-Phillips Brick Co.

Commissioner in Chancery E. B. Taylor, to whom Judge Nicol some time since referred the chancery suit of Agnew & Co. against the Jackson-Phillips Brick Company and whose plant was advertised in the Gazette for sale by trustees at public auction but stopped by injunction proceedings, will begin on March 20th in this city to hear all matters in connection with the claim of the creditors of this company.

A., who is to make an inspection of the military forces of the State, is in Richmond and began his work yesterday by inspecting the office of the adjutant-general and that of the inspector-general. He will inspect the headquarters, Third Battalion and Company G, Seventieth Infantry, Alexandria, on March 30.

Republican Committee.

At a meeting of the republican congressional committee for the Eighth district held yesterday at the Prince William Hotel, Manassas, a convention to nominate a candidate for Congress in this district was called to meet in Alexandria on August 14, at 1 p. m. Alexandria was represented by Mr. Grayson, of Fauquier, who held Mr. R. P. W. Garnett's proxy.

Havenner Bread.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of the Havenner Bakery on the first page of today's Gazette. Bread, fresh from the ovens, is furnished daily in any part of the city. Havenner products have ever stood high in the market, and the bread now being turned out is unexcelled for its purity and nutritious qualities.

The funeral of the late Thomas Kelly took place this morning from St. Mary's Church. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Bowden and the pallbearers were Messrs. R. M. Latham, Edward Quinn, T. J. Fannon, John McKenna, M. Downey and T. McGowan. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Death of Mr. Spriggs.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Senate was called to order in constructive session at noon yesterday by President Ellyson.

The president of the Senate signed the following bills, which had come to him from the enrolling clerks:

To prevent the forfeiture of the charter of the Southern and Western Railway; requiring common carriers to receipt for freight tendered them for shipment; to make it a felony for a person to alter, amend, or in any way to change a bill after it has passed both branches of the legislature; to allow the town of Front Royal to dispose of certain real estate; to amend the code in relation to salaries of State officials; to limit the liability of hotel keepers; to sell the penitentiary lot in Richmond; to allow for all police justices in cities of 50,000 or over; to amend the code in relation to verdict of juries in certain damage cases; for the protection of fish in the waters of Shenandoah river; to amend the law in relation to the salaries of supervisors.

Senator Machen, arising to a question of privilege, made a witty reference to the headlines in the morning paper regarding the members being at rope's end. He said that the allusion might apply to the Mann bill, the primary bill and to various other measures, but that he did not think the general term should be applied. It had been customary, said the Senator to hold a sort of post mortem over the primary bill, but he did not think the consigning of all the members to the rope's end was justified.

Senator Sale objected to the Senator from Alexandria making any speech at this time.

The Senate adjourned, to meet Wednesday at noon.

The session of the House was something of a farce. The members, having nothing else to do, began skylarking. Delegates Churchman and Taliaferro wanted the journal of Saturday read—a thing that would have required about six hours. There were other motions made in jest. The House adjourned, to meet again on Wednesday at noon, after the chair has signed some bills as required by the constitution.

BILLS THAT FAILED

Among the bills introduced during the session that were killed, was that by Mr. Caton to distribute the tax on the rolling stock of railway companies among the counties through which the lines of road operate, and another was the Williams bill, aimed at the Southeastern Tariff Association, and designed to prevent fire insurance companies from combining for the purpose of making rates.

Others that failed beside those heretofore mentioned were:

The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac merger bills.

The amendments to the Mann liquor laws.

The bill relieving the doctors of the payment of a license tax.

The Glenn traveling auditors bill.

The general primary bill.

The general dispensary bill.

The bill changing the method of the appointment of the Board of Fisheries.

The Puller bill removing the $10,000 liability upon cases where there is death or serious injury.

The Old anti-cigarette bill.

The social club bill.

The Thomas uniform tax measure, and many others.

[COMMUNICATED.

Ship Chandlers of Old.

In reading a local in the Gazette announcing the death of Mr. J. Thomas Lindsey, the writer thought how few of our citizens would call to mind and consider the meaning and import of the two words, "ship chandler," used therein to designate Mr. Lindsey's business. As the former maritime prestige of Alexandria has waned in that branch of commercial industry the words "ship chandler" are practically obsolete, but in the earlier life of J. T. Lindsey it was a familiar sign along the river front attached to the names of such sterling business men as Ebenezer Bacon, R. I. T. Wilson, J. N. Harper, N. Boush, Talbot & Bacon, N. Lindsey and others. Tom Lindsey, as he was socially and familiarity known in the commercial thrift of maritime Alexandria, had the confidence and friendship of a large majority of the mariners who came to this port from across the ocean, or coastwise from Mexico to Nova Scotia, and they were numbered by hundreds. Being of a whole-soul, genial nature, Tom was a favorite with the deep sea masters and also those of the mosquito fleet of the bays and inlets among whom he spent his life time energies and abilities as an upright solicitor and salesman to aid in building up a successful business establishment which his friends hope will continue for generations to come. Tom's zeal in his efforts brought impaired health, resulting in permanent withdrawal from business life and after 20 years of retirement he has passed away, but memory of him will be kept green so long as the sign of N. Lindsey & Co., can be read. SCHOOLMATE.

Rescued from Burning House

Hemmed in by flames on all sides, the three children of Alfred Place a thrifty young farmer of near Whitacre, Frederick county, had a miraculous escape from being roasted alive Sunday morning while their parents were at the barn feeding live stock. Sparks from a chimney in the out-kitchen set fire to the roof, and being an old-time log structure the house was enveloped in flames before Place and his wife heard the cries of their children. Regardless of personal danger, Place rushed in, rescued the tots and brought them out just as the roof fell in. Mrs. Place was overcome from suspense and excitement, but was revived. Mr. Place lost all except a few pieces of furniture, as well as $25 in paper money. He carried no insurance.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 13, 1906.

Red, White, Green Seas.

The colors of pure ocean water and the varying shades observed where impurities are met with are diversified by the coloring effects of the enormous multitudes of various forms of organized life which sometimes mask the natural color of the surface of the sea and tinge extensive areas with remarkable colors. Red appears to be most frequently met with. In the southern parts of the Red sea and in the Arabian gulf large areas are colored blood red by microscopic animalculae, and in the Indian ocean similar forms of life cause, in addition to red, milk white or yellow spots of great extent, the appearance of which is frequently alarming to the ignorant sailor. Off the Guinea coast ships sometimes appear to float in milk. Extensive red streaks are also known to occur in the south Atlantic and south Pacific, which are caused by hosts of small red crustaces. The "Vermilion sea" of California owes its brilliant color to infusoria. Areas colored green have been noted, especially in the arctic regions, which are due to myriads of diatoms, and in some portions of the antarctic seas diatoms of rusty color make the water a dirty brown.

How General Butler Lost a Horse.

While in front of Petersburg General Butler received information that his favorite horse, Almond Eye, had been accidentally killed by falling into a ravine. Upon the departure of his informant he ordered an Irish servant to go and skin him.

"What, is Almond Eye dead?" asked Pat.

"What's that to you? Do as I bid you and ask no questions."

Pat went about his business and in an hour or two returned.

"Well, Pat, where have you been all this time?" sternly demanded the general.

"Skinning the horse, yer honor."

"Does it take nearly two hours to perform such an operation?"

"No, yer honor, but then, you see, it tuck bout half an hour to catch him," replied Pat.

General Butler cast upon his servant such a ferocious look that Pat thought he meditated skinning an Irishman in revenge for the death of his horse.

Value of Butterflies.

When our juniors see the common white cabbage and sulphur wing butterflies or even the superb Monarch and gorgeous Ajax swallowtails flitting through the fields or at times city streets they perhaps never give thought to the fact that butterflies may be of commercial value. But such is the case. Some of our domestic butterflies on account of rarity more than beauty command prices from one to several dollars, which collectors gladly pay to insure the completeness of their cabinets. Big prices are paid for some of the magnificent butterflies of the morpho and papilio genera, which are rainbow hued in colors and span five feet in wings. These flourish in tropical countries, and it is often necessary for museums to send out special expeditions for them. They range from $10 to $100 in value.—Baltimore Herald.

Haddock Marks.

Why do haddocks carry those peculiar black "finger marks" near the head? Some tell us that they are a memento of the pressure of St. Peter's fingers when he went fishing for the tribute money. On the Yorkshire coast of England they say the devil once determined to build a bridge at Filey. His Satanic majesty did not start the bridge for the convenience of the people, but for the destruction of ships and sailors and the annoyance of fishermen in general. In the progress of his work Old Nick dropped his hammer into the sea. Snatching at it hastily, he caught a haddock, and all haddocks carry the imprint of his black fingers to this day.

Conceit.

Conceit is essential to rapid advancement—not overconceit, but conceit in reasonable volume. The conceit of youth becomes the assurance of old age. If you're master of your conceit, you have back of you a slave of unlimited assistance. If conceit is your master, you're doomed to failure. But don't cultivate self conceit. It's a lusty plant. Give it half a chance and it will outgrow your self respect.—N. C. Fowler, Jr., in "Gumption."

Diagnosis.

"I regret to say," remarked the young physician, "that you have peristaltic neurilemma. The symptoms are unmistakable."

"Dear me!" exclaimed the astonished patient. "What in the world is peristaltic neurilemma, doctor?"

"It is, sir, the disease from which you are suffering," answered the young M. D. haughtily.—Chicago News.

Natural Enough.

The Breath of Life.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. Oh, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Quick changes from hot to cold and back again try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest and positive remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases are cured in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
